

iXigo.com partners with Indira Gandhi International Airport (IGIA) for travel search iXigo.com powers online flight & hotel meta-search for newdelhiairport.in

New Delhi, January 18, 2011 – iXigo.com has partnered with Delhi's Indira Gandhi International Airport (IGIA) for enabling a flights & hotels search engine on the IGIA website <http://www.newdelhiairport.in>. This partnership enables passengers visiting the airport's website to search for flights and hotels across 100+ travel websites and to choose and book directly on their preferred airline or hotel booking site for both domestic and international destinations.

The travel bookings search functionality has been made available to passengers on newdelhiairport.in, a website developed and maintained by ePagemaker, an online solutions company. With this partnership, the airport website will enable over a million domestic and international passengers to compare airfares across airlines flying within India and abroad, as well as compare hotel rates for 2,50,000+ hotels globally. After comparing results from multiple travel websites in one search, users can select and book directly with the respective booking site of their desired option.

"This partnership makes newdelhiairport.in one of the most innovative and consumer friendly airport websites in the world in terms of real-time travel information and meta-search", said Nitin Gurha, VP, Travel Partnerships, iXigo.com. He added, "We are delighted to offer visitors to New Delhi Airport's website with an easy-to-use world-class search tool for checking flight schedules, fares and availability along with hotel reservations across the country. Air travelers to and from India can now benefit from several innovative features such as all-inclusive flight pricing, real-time fares & availability for all airlines, comparison of hotel rates across multiple booking sites and map-location based search of hotels.

iXigo.com is considered a pioneer of online travel search and is recognized as one of the most comprehensive, fast, transparent & accurate travel sites in India for flights, hotels, buses, trains and deals. iXigo.com empowers consumers by providing them the ability to search and compare prices and availability across 100+ travel sites, and is the fastest growing travel site in India. Its meta-search business model for online travel bookings is helping millions of travelers save time and money on their travel & enhancing the overall efficiency of the online travel ecosystem.
